DODGE CITY'S PROGRESS.

Dodge City moves ahead in a moderate, substantial way, and the progress cannot be styled a boom. At this time there are extensive preparations for building. We have counted twenty-four brick buildings now in process of erection. There are many residences going up, and a large number of dwellings will be built during the season. With all of her wealth and progress Dodge City is without ostentation. Other towns make a grand flourish of the boom under way. There is one feature about the progress of Dodge City that is commendable and augurs well for the permanency and future of the town. All of the improvements are being made by old settlers—or by those who have been in the country a few years. Two new banking institutions have been organized, and the stock is taken up by old settlers. We speak of old settlers—some of our citizens have been residents of Dodge since the organization of the town in 1872.

The bank building was built last year, and this building would be a credit to any city. The principal owners are such old citizens as G. M. Hoover, R. W. Evans, H. L. Stier, R. J. Hardesty and others. The new banks organized are composed of old citizens. The Merchants State Bank has Geo. B. Cox, F. C. Zimmerman, James Langton, Geo. S. Emerson, Dr. McCarty, W. C. Shinn, J. H. Crawford, W. G. Sherlock and O. Marsh. The Ford County Bank is officered by R. M. Wright and H. B. Bell, two of our oldest citizens.

The principal houses are owned and controlled by men who have had several years residence here. We note these circumstances to show that it is Dodge City wealth that is building up the town. Our citizens having faith in the prosperity and future of the city, are investing all of their surplus capital in good and substantial improvements. Of brick business houses erected within the past year, and in course of building, we note those built by O. Marsh, W. C. Shinn, Mrs. A. L. Robbins, Morris Collar, J. Collar (3), F. J. Darand, Dr. McCarty, R. M. Wright, Webster & Bond, C. M. Beeson, C. Romero, F. C. Zimmerman, Chas. Heinz, York-Parker-Draper Mercantile Company, Kirkpatrick & Dunn, J. H. Kelley (2), A. H. Snyder, Mrs. R. F. Young, Langton & Sherlock, R. W. Evans and R. J. Hardesty will erect brick buildings east of the Dodge City bank. H. Storm will put up three additional brick store houses. H. L. Stier will also construct brick business houses.

A large number of large and elegant residence houses were built last year, and a larger number will be erected during the coming season. The present year will be one of unprecedented activity in Dodge City.

We have received a letter from a gentleman in Nebraska, making inquiries about Dodge City, and we have concluded to answer the questions through the columns of the Times, believing the answers will serve the purpose of giving information to others, who desire to know something of railroad prospects.

The population of Dodge City is about 3,000. The prospects of other railroads coming here are exceedingly good. We anticipate the coming of the Chicago, Nebraska, Kansas, and Southwestern Railroad, which is a part of the system of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad. Our people are deeply interested in this project, and will vote aid to secure it. There is no division in Dodge City, on this score. This is one point on which the city is a unit; and we hope to attain the end. There are apparent reasons for believing that a Chicago road will build to this point. The rapidly developing country gives some pertinent suggestions in a postscript to his letter. He says: "You ought to encourage all railroads coming to your place that possibly could be got, especially another south into Texas. That would naturally give you a northeastern route after awhile, and then other roads. Railroads are the life blood of a country."

Prohibition grows stronger day by day. The dark clouds of doubt have broken asunder in the political sky and the bright sunshine of hope is shining in streams of golden light over all the grand prairies. Prohibition does not mean the simple doing away with the liquor traffic, but its potent power will extinguish many lesser evils; and will call into existence many valuable and important industries that are now dormant because of the impoverishment caused by the rum curse.

Every solitary kind action that is done is working briskly in its own sphere to restore the balance between right and wrong. Kindness has converted more sinners than either zeal, eloquence or learning; and these three never converted any one unless they were kind also. The continual sense which a kind heart has of its own need of kindness keeps it humble. Perhaps an act of kindness never dies, but extends the invisible undulations of its influence over the centuries.

The roller-skate manufacturers are now turning their attention to making imitation tortoise-shell buttons. There is a large demand for the buttons, and the makers see their way clear to thus get rid of their over-supply of boxwood.

ITS COMING.

Not the ground hog or his six week's of weather, nor the Asiatic cholera or a three-ringed circus; no, nothing of a trivial nature like these things, but something of a permanent and encouraging character. We refer to the boom of 1886. The very air is filled with the tidings of the approaching army of industries and enterprising people from the northern and eastern states who are preparing to invade Kansas with the first breath of spring. The picket lines are advancing every day with their families and household goods, and every train leaving them at towns along the roads. Kansas has had a phenomenal growth in years past, but 1886 will give her a degree of prosperity and increase of population never before witnessed in any state. Notwithstanding the trying oracles through which the state has passed, from the days of her territorial existence—when intestine strife and war were the chief attractions, and her eastern borders were then darkened with the clouds of discontent, confusion and dismay, embracing in their order the grasshopper devastation, droughts, and kindred adversities to the present hour—yet Kansas, like a miracle has surrounded all obstacles, giving green pastures to the scorched sandy plains; shaly groves with the songs of merry birds instead of a desert, waving fields of golden grain and herds of domestic cattle, where but recently the meager buffalo grass was the only vegetation and the coyote and prairie dog the principal live stock; beautiful towns, with handsome buildings, churches, school houses, and residences with all the modern conveniences and improvements, with gas, electric lights, water works, street railways and a prosperous busy people. Occupying a central position in the sisterhood of states, all other states must revolve around this central orbit. These are a few of the reasons why they are coming. Kansas lies in the pathway of all travel, north, south, east and west. Midway between the gulf and the lakes, and the great oceans of the world, she is seen and known by all people. The great secret of this wonderful growth is due principally to "advertising." Kansas never raised a big potato, mammoth ear of corn, or an apple of unequalled size and flavor without lastening out and holding them forth that the whole world might behold them. She never fails to "carry the news to Mary." She is liberal and never loses an opportunity to insist on inviting everybody outside her borders to come and take dinner and bring their knitting. Hence, it is not strange that she prospers.—Inland Tribune.

MOODY ON REVIVALS.

Many people, and not a few good people too, object to special efforts for promotion of religious morals. As this is an occasion of such an agitation in this city, it may be interesting to read what Mr. Moody, the prince of revivalists, has to say in justification of their columns of the Times, believing the answers will serve the purpose of giving information to others, who desire to know something of railroad prospects.

First, we must believe in revivals. I do not see how any one who reads his bible can say one word against revivals. Why, look at the great revivals in Moses' time, and those under Joshua and David and Josiah. Think of the great gathering that Ezra had, when all the people stood in the street all day for a revival meeting. Moreover every denomination that I know anything about is the result of some revival. The Episcopalians say they are apostolic. That takes them back to Pentecost, when three thousand were converted in a single day. The Lutherans proclaim in their very name the great revival under Luther. The Quakers sprang from the revival under George Fox, the Methodists from that under the Wesleys; and more than that, four fifths of the names on the church rolls to-day are those of persons converted in a revival. They make the best workers. They are more likely to hold out. A man converted and entering a cold church is like a baby thrown into a snow-drift; but in times of revival the church is warm, ready to receive the new-born souls. I don't believe in spasmodic efforts, when the churches rouses for a few days, only to go back to sleep again for a year, or for five years. But God has his special harvest seasons in nature; why not in grace? The longer I live the more I believe in revivals.

But second. We must get things out of the way for a revival. When the Savior came of old, John cried, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord." I believe that in many places the Spirit of God is grieved, and his blessing is withheld, simply because we crowd him out of our churches. We hold meetings during the week of prayer, and Christians are getting warmed and revived, and the hearts of sinners are melting; but the moment the week is over we clear the way for the socials and lectures and concerts—things which distract the minds of the unconverted, and scatter their serious thoughts. Shall it be so this winter in your churches, brethren? Will you gratify the eyes and ears of the people around you, without making earnest effort to save their perishing souls? How important it is that the meetings should be continued, that room should be made for the Lord to work. What a wave of blessing would sweep over this country if our churches would all agree to let these things go this winter, and give themselves with all their might to the work of saving souls!

The whole history of the Christian church justifies special and indefatigable agitation. No more does the history of the church than the history of all social movements, political, philanthropic and moral. The public cannot be awakened to act even upon its most important interests without agitation. However we have temperance agitations, political campaigns, tariff discussions, silver controversies, all attend with meetings, addresses, parades, petitions and other demonstrations designed to interest the indifferent and give an impulse to action to those who sit down in inaction. And Leavenworth has just passed through a revival. In order to secure the desired result it was necessary to hold meetings, have addresses, work the press, see individuals and thoroughly agitate the community. Of course all these things are right, necessary and inevitable where great interests are involved.

Mankind is more indifferent to moral questions than to temporal, even though the latter may involve to a considerable extent the former, for certainly no one can doubt that any community whose individuals regulated their actions by the work of God, would enjoy a higher degree of prosperity, and happiness than one whose citizens did not. Notwithstanding the relation of temporal and moral interests man is prone to neglect the latter, and often nothing but a commanding with hot shot will awaken him to their consideration. It is a great blessing to any community to be agitated until all the people think and talk about the Bible, religion, death and eternity, and though some may be offended and say it is making common that which is sacred, and belongs only to the heart the closet, many others in the long ages to come will look back with gladness to the time and place where they were aroused from moral insensibility and inaction. O. J. N. —Leavenworth Times.

Spearville Blades.

—Protracted meeting is still kept up at the M. E. church. —Strangers coming in almost every day looking for locations. —We hear of a number of buildings to be erected in town. —George F. Weyand is looking over his grounds adjoining the Blade office with a view of building thereon immediately. —Some of the farmers have commenced plowing. How is that for February, and a very bad winter to boot? We haven't lost all our Italian climate yet. —It begins to appear as though considerable was going to be done in the way of improvements in the town this spring and summer. The bridge across the Arkansas will be a great help in building up this town and country. As the town builds up so will the country, and vice versa. —Dr. Young, assisted by Dr. Crumline, operated a couple of toes for George Hurst the other morning. Mr. Hurst during the severe cold weather froze his feet very badly from the effects of which it was necessary that two of his toes should be taken off. He is doing quite well. —It is getting about time again to be looking after fire goods. Because people will burn off rather than in order to facilitate plowing, and for other purposes, and some will be careless about it, and some it will get the start of an apple of all they can do, and from one cause and another prairie fires will be almost as rare as fate. Then see to your guards, and see that they are sufficient for any occasion. And remember, too, that the spring winds are always high, driving the fire through the high grass with a force very nearly akin to that of a cyclone. —It will be of interest to county officials and others living in newly organized counties to know that by the provisions of the new law regarding the sale of school lands in newly organized counties, which take effect by publication on the 15th inst., no sale of school lands can be made in counties until three years after they are organized. This effectively puts a stop to the heavy sale of lands which has been going on in a number of newly organized counties. The attorney general decides that in all cases of school lands advertised for sale, the date of which is subsequent to the 15th inst., the sale, if held would be illegal and that all such lands must be withdrawn from the market.

We suppose that Dodge and Garden City now feel their oats, and are crowing lustily over their weaker sister cities' defeat in county lines matter. We have heard of a mouse which was of great service to a large animal once by gnawing the cable that bound him.—Cimarron Sod House. Let's go to work and help build up the country. The county line business will come out all right in the course of human events.

The legislature made three new counties out of the territory of Seward. The names of the new counties are Seward, Stevens and Mortin. A bill was passed to attach Seward county to Meade, and Stevens and Mortin to Finney for judicial purposes.

The Kansas legislature passed a bill to prevent the circulating of obscene publications, pictures, etc. We presume the pictorial police gazettes will be prohibited in Kansas.

No better indication of the solid prosperity of Kansas is needed than the desire of the great railroad corporations to stretch their lines throughout the state.

The probate judge of Barber county proposes to revoke the permits of druggists in Medicine Lodge because they sell whiskey to saloon keepers.

A REMARKABLE ESCAPE. Mrs. Mary Dalley, of Tunkhannock, Pa., was afflicted for six years with Anemia and Bronchitis, during which time the best physicians could give no relief. Her life was despaired of, until in last October she procured a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, when immediate relief was felt, and by continuing its use for a short time she was completely cured, existing in health 50 lbs. in a few months.

Free Trial Bottles of this certain cure of all Throat and Lung Diseases at City Drug Store. Large Bottles $1.00.

To the Editor Dodge City Times: Please admit a few lines from a true friend and a full blooded Kansan. As I travel over the country viewing the scenes of my childhood, the hills, and valleys, the farm house, and the wood land, I feel proud of the home of my adoption—Western Kansas. I have visited the old country church, at whose altars I have knelt in the years gone by; where I seem to be known of all, and where I know only those with grey hairs. Among the places of interest to me, was the tomb of my father.

We had an enjoyable reunion at the residence of a brother. Five of the family were present. The average weight of four of whom was 205 pounds.

Proud to see the rapid strides that the principle of Prohibition is making in this as well as in other sections of the state. There are thirty-eight of the counties of this state that already have local option, and a great many more are now petitioning the legislature for the privilege of voting on county local option. And beside this, there are a great many townships and cities in those whiskey counties that now have townships and city local option.

I hope to see the day soon, when Kentucky whiskey will no more be platted on hotels of the law and vice.

There is now before the Kentucky legislature a bill to make gambling a felony.

The following is the bill: Section 1. Whoever, with or without compensation, shall set up, carry on, or assist in setting up, carrying on, or conducting, a game of cards, dice, roulette, or other game of chance, or a lottery, or a commission set up, conduct, or carry on a game of cards, or any other thing which is won or lost, or shall prevent the conviction of any person on a commission set up, conduct, or carry on a game of cards, or any other thing which is won or lost, or shall prevent the conviction of any person on a commission set up, conduct, or carry on a game of cards, or any other thing which is won or lost, shall be deemed infamous after conviction, and be forever disqualified from exercising the right of suffrage and from holding any office of honor, trust, or profit, whether it be State, county, city, or municipal, and shall not be competent to testify in any court or before any tribunal. The judgment or conviction shall in every case recite such infamy and disqualification, and shall not be void without such recital.

Sec. 2. Change of name of any of the games, tables, machines, or contrivances included in this act shall not prevent the conviction of any person violating the provisions thereof.

Sec. 3. An indictment for violating any of the provisions of this act may charge the accused in one count with the commission of any or all of the offenses set forth in this act.

Now, let Kansas again come to the front. Let the state that has led in the opposition to slavery and drunkenness, and murder, not be found wanting, or surpassed, on any line of civilization and progress. W. J. ELLIOTT. Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 12, 1886.

NEVER GIVE UP. If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a nervous nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle at City Drug Store.
